

OFFICIAL CONTRACT

I Xaphan, hereby referred to as the Contracting Authority (CA) grant my current master, Vernon Vickies, hereby referred to as the Signee, my natural resistance to the elements, as well as sharp, pointy, and/or smashy things provided they are not already created for the purpose of slaying devils of my kind, and provided that the CA and Signee are within the same proximity of an average Succubus' wing span, which amounts to about ten feet of length in a standard measure.

In exchange for this service, the Signee will provide the CA with a small daily supplement of the Signee's own blood for the duration(1) of this contract.

In the event that the CA is not fed, there is a grace period of one day, after which the Signee will begin to accrue blood debt to the CA, which will be paid in full upon the first opportunity of feeding that presents itself without willingly or unwillingly putting the CA or the Signee in danger(3).

BREACH OF CONTRACT

In the event of a contract breach by the Signee, after the resolution of Clause 3, Clause 3 is nullified. The Signee is expected to satisfy as much of the blood debt as it is possible, after which Clause 1 is enacted in full, with the maximum of six life-years stipulated in Clause 2.

In addition, all trinkets(4) that belonged to the Signee at the time of contract breach will be inherited by the CA, or otherwise recovered and delivered to the CA by an interested third party.

Clause 1: The duration of the contract is one feeding per day until the equivalent of one life year has been extracted from the Signee(2), thereby transferred to the contracting authority upon expiration of the Signee and paid in the form of servitude of the Contracting Authority's choice and to the Contracting Authority, for an equal duration of one life-year.

Clause 2: The contract renews automatically on the 5th day of Misuthar in the calendar of Toril to a total of six life-years, unless both the CA and Signee agree to end the contract before its expiration (see Contract Dissolution).

Clause 3: In the event that the Signee accrues a high enough blood debt insofar that he or she cannot deliver in full without dying, the Signee is considered to be in Breach of Contract.

Clause 4: Trinkets must be valuable things that are no larger than a vrock egg and have some monetary value or significant sentimental value. In the case of the latter, loss of the possession must bring significant distress, or a measurable amount of stress, regret, guilt, sadness, or general melancholy, through the manifestation of tears, ruminating thoughts, distraction or aloofness while adventuring or daily tasks, difficulty sleeping or manifestation of nightmares.

CONTRACT DISSOLUTION

The marked hands of both the CA and the Signee are severed and placed onto both copies of the contract. The hands and the contract will be destroyed, and the contract will become null and void.
